Late Breaker: The “tridemic” of RSV, influenza, and SARS-CoV-2 continues. As we are in a season of increased travel and gatherings, it is good to remind ourselves and others to practice good public health measures. Encourage everyone to be up to date on all their vaccines, practice good hand hygiene and respiratory hygiene (cover coughs and sneezes), stay home when sick, consider testing for SARS-CoV-2 prior to large gatherings especially if those with higher risks for severe disease are attending, and consider wearing masks in indoor crowded spaces. We wish everyone a safe, healthy, and restful holiday!
