Late Breaker: Tri-County Health Department is investigating a cluster of Shiga toxin-producing E. coli (STEC) O157:H7 cases among people who dined at Red Robin in Westminster, CO (799 W. 146th Ave.) from June 21 to June 27, 2019. One case in this outbreak has developed hemolytic uremic syndrome (HUS). Providers are encouraged to collect stool specimens from patients presenting with bloody diarrhea and order STEC testing (STEC testing is part of our gastrointestinal PCR panel). For additional information on STEC, visit the CDC website.
