Late Breaker: The number of cases of measles in the US continues to rise. As of last week, the CDC reported 64 cases in 17 states so far this year, higher than the entirety of last year. Most cases have been in unvaccinated children who were eligible for vaccination. The CDC recently issued a travel advisory alerting international travelers of the increased risk of measles, recommending that infants 6 to 11 months old traveling internationally should have one dose and children 12 months and older should have two doses of the MMR vaccine prior to travel (Health Alert Network (HAN) - 00504 | Increase in Global and Domestic Measles Cases and Outbreaks: Ensure Children in the United States and Those Traveling Internationally 6 Months and Older are Current on MMR Vaccination (cdc.gov).
